CALL FOR NOMINATIONS FOR THE 2018 ASME DAYTON SECTION AWARDS

The ASME Dayton Section is seeking nominations for its 2018 awards. These awards recognize exceptional contributions to the mechanical engineering profession in a broad range of endeavors, including professional practice, research, teaching, management, and service to the Dayton engineering community. The awards are open to ASME members from the Dayton area, and the winners will be chosen by the section board. Three award categories are open for nominations:

Young Engineer Award – open to students or professionals who have received a baccalaureate degree within the past six years.

Outstanding Contribution Award – awarded for exceptional contributions over the last three years

Lifetime Achievement Award – awarded for a long and distinguished career of contribution to the mechanical engineering profession

The winners will be honored with a complimentary dinner and certificate at the AIAA/ASME Awards Banquet, which will be held in May at the University of Dayton.

Please complete the attached nomination form and, by Friday 27 April 2018, send to:
